OBITUARY.

JOSEPH GREEN KIRK.

Joseph Green Kirk was one of the oldest and best known of the early settlers in the county of Perth, Ontario. His illness, which extended over several years, did not confine him to the house until the beginning of this year. He was born in Londonderry, Ireland, on September 12, 1809. He was educated by a private tutor, his studies having special reference to his chosen calling, that of a civil engineer. In 1829 he left Ireland for Canada, settling in Bytown, now the City of Ottawa, where he practised under Mr. John Robertson, a civil engineer of that place. In 1843, having received a commission to practise as a land surveyor, he moved to Goderich, and shortly afterwards to Stratford. In 1845 he was appointed engineer for the Huron district, comprising the Counties of Perth, Huron and Bruce of to-day. When the district was separated into counties his duties were confined to the County of Perth. He resigned this office in 1872, and devoted himself mainly to a private practice. In 1878 he was employed by the Town of Guelph, in 1884 by the Town of Minnedosa, Man., and for many years in Stratford and adjacent municipalities in his professional capacity, having charge of local improvements in those places. In 1837 he volunteered as a private in the militia. In 1847 he received a commission as a Lieutenant in the 4th Battalion of the Huron militia, and was connected with the 1st Perth Battalion holding the rank of Captain. A commission as Justice of the Peace was given him in 1858. In the early days of Stratford he sat in the Council. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and filled the position of elder for many years. He died at his home in Stratford on 22nd January 1900. In private life quiet and unselfish he was endeared to all who knew him.

He leaves a widow and one son, Mr. J. A. Kirk, of Rossland, B. C. Two sisters also survive him, living near Ottawa.
