

He came to St. Thomas in 1867 and practised his profession there and thereabouts until his death.

He was a gentleman of somewhat reserved disposition, but was highly esteemed by those who were intimate with him.

This is another illustration of the immutable laws of nature. He had six pall-bearers, one of them, D. Ferguson, who is the only one of them alive to-day, and he resides at 1027 Chamberlain Street, Victoria, B.C. He contributed the photo and important data for this sketch, as did also Mr. Fred A. Bell, O.L.S., of St. Thomas, contribute much.
